

Short description

The 05U probe head functions like a coupling clamp. It is easily positioned onto conducting paths and components, e.g. SMD capacitors. The current flow, which runs through these components, can be estimated and the effectiveness of them like filter capacitors, for example, can be tested.

The probe head detects the rotating field around the conductor and the laterally entering homogenous field as well.

Design, view 1

05U orange

Probe Head for MSA 02

Application 05U

